DANCING NEW FREEDOM.

An index to the fiscal chronicle of the Wilson administration so far would run something like this:

1. Treasury net balance, $166,000,000.
2. Ordinary revenues offset ordinary expenditures.
3. Tariff revised drastically downward.
4. Income tax law passed.
5. Deficiency in revenues.
6. Record appropriations by Congress.
7. Emergency war tax levied.
8. More record breaking appropriations.
9. Revenue deficiency grows.
10. Treasury's impending bankruptcy discussed.
11. Government bond sales in prospect.

Although the total appropriations of the Sixty-third Congress, which finished its labors about two weeks ago, were $177,000,000 larger than the aggregate appropriations of the Sixty-first Congress, the last one controlled in both branches by the Republicans, they were still $83,000,000 less than the estimates of expenditures submitted by the New Freedom directors. The balance in the Treasury is hovering around $40,000,000, and is more than represented by Treasury holdings of silver and of fractional currency. The actual Treasury deficit at the end of next June promises to be anywhere from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 or more.

The New Freedom evidently comes high, but if we must have it, we have got to pay for it.—New York Sun.

SEEMS TO BE TRUE.

It is giving out at Washington that the appropriations of the last Congress will total $2,231,000,000, which is $113,000,000 more than the Congress before and $177,000,000 more than the last Republican Congress. It is predicted by the Democratic chairman of the Appropriations Committee that the deficit on June 30 will be $133,000,000. It looks like deficit and Democratic administrations just go together, hand in hand, in spite of all you can do. This seems to apply in both state and nation.—Glasgow Republican.

BUY-A-BALE!

Skirts are to be full. The pendulum of fashion is to swing back, as it always does. Women of modish tastes, we are told, will wear skirts at least six yards in circumference.

Paris, in spite of the war, is having its way. American designers and fashion leaders who were abroad last summer, it seems had a glimpse just before the war broke, of skirts in exclusive Paris shops showing this reaction from scantiness to fullness. The idea has been incubating since, all unexpected by the public. Now the six-yard skirts are about to sweep scant feminine draperies to the fashion limbo.

And maybe it's just as well. The designers doubtless had no economic purpose in view, but big skirts are an economic boon nevertheless. Full skirts mean more material. That means more cotton cloth. The cotton market, disorganized by the shrinkage of woman's clothing, may come into its own again. There will be more work for the cotton factories, added to the war orders. As a result, there will be a steadily increasing domestic demand for raw cotton.

If all the women take to full skirts, they may use up that unmarketable surplus, and restore prosperity to the south.

WOULD THAT MY ENEMY WOULD WRITE A BOOK.

A dispatch from Washington says that Speaker Champ Clark instead of devoting his time to the lecture platform this summer, will write two books. What he has to say of W. J. B. will probably fill at least one of his books, and it should be "mighty interesting readin'."

Job For the Office Hunter.

"Senator, you promised me a job."

"But there are no jobs."

"I need a job, Senator."

"Well, I'll ask for a commission to investigate as to why there are no jobs, and you can get a job on that."—Kansas City Journal.

Anything To Oblige.

"I see blondes will be the style this year," remarked the idle rich man.

"Is that so?" remarked his blonde wife with a well-bred yawn. "In that case, do you wish me to be one, or would you prefer a divorce?"

FOOD SEASON FOR OYSTER TRADE

New York, March 25.—The oyster season which will come to an end one week from today has been the poorest which the oystermen have known in many years. Some of the largest concerns in the business do not hesitate to characterize it as the poorest in its history. The volume of oyster trade this winter has rarely reached 60 per cent of normal. The demand for the bivalves has been affected by general business conditions, by a very poor crop in 1914, by the mild weather during the best oyster months, and to no small extent by the disengagement of the oyster by the health authorities.

American exports for the month of February amounted to nearly $300,000,000, the highest previous figure for February having been near $200,000.
